Neighborhoods Connect over proposed sale of Pinemont Park & Ride

Residents of several neighborhoods in our area worked together to protest the sale of the Pinemont Park & Ride to the Houston Housing Authority (HHA). The HHA had planned to build a high volume affordable housing unit on the property, and many residents felt that it was not the best use of the space due to the overwhelming amount of high volume housing in our area. These neighbors worked together to show METRO and the HHA that our neighborhoods should have a say in the development of our areas. Thank you to everyone involved. Please continue to support our efforts to revitalize our area by staying involved in the community! The following is a note from Alicia Nuzzie, President of Central NW Super Neighborhood Council:

"Houston Super Neighborhoods are geographically designated areas, defined by the City of Houston (but not controlled by the City of Houston), where residents, civic organizations, institutions and businesses work together to identify, plan, respond, and set priorities that address the needs and concerns of the community. Our purpose is to tackle bigger issues that may impact our area and to keep neighborhoods informed of what is happening, not only within each individual

Forest West hosts its first Chili Cook-Off

Although the weather was a bit dreary, two of our four cook-off competitors set up and wowed residents with their chili recipes. Winner, David Ojeman, and Runner-Up, Jason Kokes, both sliced and ground fresh ingredients into exquisitely built kettles -- cast iron and ceramic. Our home chefs, Ivey Sauls, Pam Steward & Olga Charles (team), also used fresh ingredients, and they shared their favorite cooking rituals with me when I visited their homes during the cook-off.

I think many agree that these chili recipes were all astounding, and that next year's competition will be even better! Congratulations to our winners, and to our competitors for sharing your excellent chili with us!

neighborhood, but with issues that may impact our area on a city, state or national level. We're a one-stop advocacy watch/action umbrella group right in your own backyard!

The Central Northwest Super Neighborhood Council (SN 12) meets the fourth Wednesday of every other month at the Candlelight Community Center, 1520 Candlelight Ln, Houston, TX 77018 at 6:30. Our next meeting is Wednesday, May 27 at 6:30. Mary Lawler, Executive Director for Ave CDC, (a Houston non-profit which specializes in quality affordable housing), will talk a little about what affordable housing is, the different programs offered, and what makes some properties work and what doesn't. Ave CDC is one of the groups that helped restore the old Jefferson Davis Hospital downtown to provide affordable rentals for artists. Wayne Norden, President/CEO of the Near Northwest Management District, will then talk about all of his work in dealing with rundown apartment complexes in our area.

There truly is strength in numbers, so I would encourage all of you to consider attending our meetings in the future so we can continue to support each other with issues that impact our neighborhoods and area. Hope to see you at the next meeting!" -- Alicia Nuzzie

Gardening Tips

It's time to plant warm season flowers, caladiums and vegetables. Deadhead flowering plants to extend their blooming periods. Remove thatch from your lawn. Water and mow St. Augustine more often to make it fill in more quickly. Apply mulch to flower and shrub beds. Don't forget to turn your compost pile and add new vegetable matter and manure to your compost piles.
